

Belonging

I don't know about you but I "belong" to way too many organizations, clubs, gyms, rewards programs, and civic clubs. My key chain has more reward program key tags than keys. One day I predict that the key will be a thing of the past. We all have been members of teams, clubs, neighborhood associations, and countless others. Some of course, come with the prestige that only money can buy. Golf country club membership come to mind. Guess I am just jealous with this one since I cannot afford to belong to any.

So why the insatiable need to be "part" of something? That's an easy one. Bottom line is that human beings "need" to be with others. It is in our DNA.

The most tragic existence is one in which a human being lives in isolation with minimal human contact. Studies have proven that inmates subjected to prolong periods of isolation are prone to violence, withdrawal and a host of other emotional problems. Why our criminal justice system seems to think this is part of rehabilitation is still a mystery to me.

I come to the shop every day knowing here at Space Logix there will always be someone here that I can share with, laugh with, seek their input on something or grab a bite or beer with. We all need community in our personal and professional lives. Come see what a difference this can make for you.
